Hitler Moves Troops Into Southern France; Scrapping Armistice

By LEO V. DOLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, Nov. 11.—Fearing an immediate Allied invasion of the "soft" underside of the continent, Adolf Hitler sent the Nazi army swarming across southern France today to counter an assault which he claimed the United States and Britain planned to make against southern France and the Island of Corsica.

Scrapping the armistice signed at Compiegne as he has done with every other treaty when it suited his purpose, the Nazi chancellor took over in entirety France's European territory.

MOSCOW, Nov. 11.—Soviet troops maintained their offensive today in the mid-Caucasus, conducting active operations against German tank and infantry forces southeast of Nalchik, a high command commu-

Historic Developments Follow African Move

(International News Service)
Historic events overlapped themselves today in developments arising from American occupation of North Africa.

These included:

1.—In a desperate attempt to forestall Allied invasion of Europe, Adolf Hitler tore up the 1940 treaty of Compiègne, sent his troops into unoccupied France and took over Napoleon's island birthplace of Corsica.

2.—German planes and air-borne troops were landed in Tunisia with the claim that American troops already had attacked that territory.

3.—Casablanca surrendered and Americans throughout Morocco and Algeria consolidated their positions and drove toward Libya.

4.—Chief of State Marshal Henri Philippe Petain protested the new German moves.

5.—A British submarine carried out a successful attack against three enemy cruisers and three destroyers in the Mediterranean. Whereabouts of the French fleet based at Toulon were not known, and the Italian Navy likewise was missing. There was a possibility the torpedoed vessels may have been French.

Senate Approval Of Draft Bill Is Likely Thursday

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Swift senate approval of the 18-19 draft bill conference report tomorrow was indicated today when sponsors of the one year training amendment virtually abandoned opposition to the measure.

Some senators who attended a conference called by Sen. O'Daniel (D. Tex., author of the amendment) prohibiting sending of youths under 20 into combat until they had received a year's training, predicted that approval would be unanimous.

"I think the conference report will be adopted without opposition," said Sen. Chavez (D. N. M.). "I know that several of us in the meeting expressed that opinion. The record has been made and there is no use stirring up an argument."

Enemy rear guards were under attack Tuesday in the vicinity of Buq Buq 30 miles inside the Egyptian border, while Allied planes blasted fleeing Axis transport columns near Tobruk, 100 miles to the west.

The fighting at Buq Buq followed a brief battle Monday at Sidi Barrani which disclosed the small enemy force which had been left behind in an effort to slow the Allied pursuit.

German Troops Take Over Southern France—French Fleet Is Mystery

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, Nov. 11.—With the claim that American forces already have attacked Tunisia, Adolf Hitler landed combat planes and air-borne troops in that North African territory today as Casablanca surrendered and German troops took over unoccupied France in a desperate attempt to stem the Allied tide of victory.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Pooled dispatches meanwhile disclosed that American troops now have taken over the French Moroccan town of Rabat.)

Allied military headquarters had no announcement to make of American offensive activity in Tunisia.

But a Vichy announcement regarding the fall of Casablanca, the chief Moroccan seaport and naval base on the Atlantic coast, was accepted as factual.

Vichy said the French admiral commanding operations there had asked for an armistice.

The request was forwarded to United States military and naval headquarters, by Admiral Micheler French commander at Casablanca after his fleet and coastal guns had taken a terrific pounding from the British and American navies and air force.

The Vichy announcement said: "In the Casablanca sector after

Marshal Petain Protests Move Made By Hitler

(International News Service)
LONDON, Nov. 11.—Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, aged chief of State of France, voiced a vigorous protest today to the German high command against Adolf Hitler's occupation of Southern France.

The protest over the scrapping by the Germans of the armistice treaty signed June 22, 1940, at Compiègne, in which the Nazis agreed to establish a demarcation line and remain out of Southern France, was made to Col. Gen. Gerd Von Rundstedt, chief of Germany's second front defense forces.

Marshal Petain received Von Rundstedt at 10 a. m. today, the Vichy radio said.

"I protest solemnly against decisions incompatible with the armistice agreement," the marshal was quoted as saying.

The political expert of Reuter's News agency said it might be expected that Petain after protesting, would resign from the government.

LAND OPERATIONS CEASE AT ALGIERS

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Powerful American spearheads today raced to help wipe out Axis armies in Italian Libya as reports from official and unofficial quarters indicated that U. S. forces virtually have completed their invasion of all key points in French North Africa.

Capture of Casablanca would give America's "liberation" army control of French North Africa's most important cities, including Oran and Algiers, and would give U. S. forces domination of approximately 1,000 miles of strategic coastline.

A war department communique confirmed the fact that land operations at Algiers had ceased and that the Mediterranean port city of Oran had been captured.

The war department communique stated that Safi, Fezala and Mehdi in Morocco were in American hands and it was from these points that the invading forces pressed their final assaults against Casablanca.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The Germans have landed combat planes and airborne troops in French Tunisia, an American spokesman at Allied headquarters in London announced today.

There is no information, he said, concerning the arrival of United States or British troops in the French colony between American-occupied Algeria and Libya.

The spokesman said he had no knowledge as to whether the German landings were opposed by French forces there.

HITLER MOVES TROOPS INTO SOUTH FRANCE

Admittedly worried by the powerful American offensive in north Africa, Hitler declared in a letter to Petain that the German high command had known for 24 hours that Britain and the United States were planning to attack the French fleet, the south coast of France and the nearby island of Corsica.

Hitler has been gravely concerned for some time lest the allies gain a firm grip on the Mediterranean and strike at him through Italy or another weakly defended point in southern Europe.

His hurried move into southern France was prompted by the tremendous show of strength made by the Americans and British in the allied invasion of northwest Africa and the offensive which has driven his paratroopers from Egypt.

The march into the lower regions of France and the decision to occupy Corsica was seen as a desperate defensive maneuver by Hitler.

His air and naval forces were completely at a loss to check the American advances in Africa and brought closer the time when his armies must face directly the newly amassed might of the United States and Britain.

Report Not In Detail

The brief official announcement by an Allied military spokesman concerning the German landings in Tunisia did not say whether local French forces had offered any resistance.

Equally a mystery was the position and role of the French fleet, whose commander, Admiral Jean Francois Darlan, is now in American hands.

"There is no information on whether the French fleet still is at Toulon," the spokesman said.

It was said there was no news regarding Darlan's status and no concrete information regarding a rumor that Petain himself—outraged over Germany's scrapping of the Compiègne treaty—had gone to Algiers.

British and American spokesman meanwhile broadcast over the BBC appealing to all French merchant seamen in the Mediterranean to proceed to now peaceful Algiers or Gibraltar. If unable to do so, they were asked to scuttle their ships.

Despite the German move in Tunisia, the general Allied outlook in North Africa was satisfactory.

American troops were firmly in control of Algiers and the port and naval base of Oran. Resistance by French forces at the Moroccan port of Casablanca was understood to be steadily diminishing after the crushing of French naval units and the Americans were reported closing in on Rabat to the north.

A broadcast by the Nazi-operated Paris radio said that American troops were advancing in the direction of Bou Saada, 120 miles southeast of Algiers, toward the French colony of Tunisia.

Small Naval Units Aid Guadalcanal

Move Into Waters To Harass Jap Communication Lines And Halt Reinforcements

By WILLIAM L. UMSTEAD
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Small American naval units today are moving into waters around Guadalcanal to harass Japanese communication lines and to prevent reinforcements from reaching enemy troops on the island.

These small units, recently augmented by numerous torpedo boats, are prowling the seas near Guadalcanal to strike at any Jap fleet units in the battle area. Recent developments indicated that the enemy has been unable to land adequate supplies and reinforcements to Jap ground forces.

Blows delivered against enemy naval units by the small American naval forces were believed to have caused the Japs to offer little resistance to the advances of U. S. troops east of Henderson airfield. It was pointed out that the Japanese are outnumbered and are reluctant to fight the American ground units without new reinforcements.

The statement made by Lieut. Gen. Thomas Holcomb, commandant of the Marine corps, that "things are shaping up" to cut off the enemy's flow of reinforcements apparently referred to the arrival of the small U. S. naval units.

From all these operations four Allied aircraft failed to return.

The roads leading from the Libyan border westward were jammed with Axis trucks which were under constant bombardment by Allied planes. Many of the trucks were stalled by lack of fuel and were abandoned on the roadway.

American heavy bombers caught straggling Axis columns near the Libyan border and hammered them unmercifully. More than fifty fires were started by bombings of trucks between Sollum and Port Capuzzo.

Axis communications admit that their troops were on the run. Berlin said that German and Italian troops had "detached" themselves after continuous and embittered fighting in western Egypt. Rome said the British pursuit had been held up while the main Axis forces "took up new positions."

Planes Range Widely

Allied planes continued to range over the desert with practically no opposition. The most advanced Axis air base was said to be at Gambut, east of Tobruk.

Heavy rains in the border district have slowed down the Axis retreat and the advance of the British forces.

There has been no count of prisoners since the week-end when the bag was reported to number 30,000 to 40,000. The remnants of six Italian divisions were believed to have been stranded in Egypt. Small German units, left behind to fight rearward actions, were said to be fighting listlessly in the face of almost certain capture.

three days of fierce fighting all means of resistance are exhausted. "Admiral Michielier was therefore forced to ask for an armistice."

American forces well established in Morocco and Algiers consolidated their positions and continued advances in the direction of Libya.

Announcement that Nazi reinforcements have been landed in Tunisia naturally means that the road to complete conquest of North Africa now will contain the additional obstacle of highly-trained German troops.

The Nazi radio announced yesterday that the Bey of Tunis, Sidi Noufel Pasha, had acceded to a request from President Roosevelt that Allied troops be permitted to pass through Tunisia unopposed. This now appears to have been a deliberate German propaganda "fake" to justify the German landings.

Assume Corsica Occupied

It was assumed that German forces had taken over Corsica at the same time, inasmuch as Hitler in a letter to French chief of staff Marshal Henri Philippe Petain attempting to excuse his occupation of southern France in outright violation of the Compiègne armistice named this island birthplace of Napoleon as a likely point of invasion by Allied forces.

The Nazis already were in Italian Sardinia in droves. The garrisoning of Corsica is regarded as a comparatively simple matter, despite the fact the natives of this island are strongly nationalistic and extremely jealous of their independence.

No estimates were available in London of the size and strength of Nazi troops shot across the Mediterranean to Tunisia by air, and it could not be established just where they had landed. The British Broadcasting Company broadcast a Vichy report that Italian marines have taken over the port of Bizerte, where a considerable portion of the French fleet has long been anchored.

Allied planes continued to range over the desert with practically no opposition. The most advanced Axis air base was said to be at Gambut, east of Tobruk.

Heavy rains in the border district have slowed down the Axis retreat and the advance of the British forces.

There has been no count of prisoners since the week-end when the bag was reported to number 30,000 to 40,000. The remnants of six Italian divisions were believed to have been stranded in Egypt. Small German units, left behind to fight rearward actions, were said to be fighting listlessly in the face of almost certain capture.

In Memoriam

In memory of John Wojnar, who died one year ago today. Oh for the touch of the hand that's gone.

And the sound of the voice that's stilled.

Sadly missed by his brothers and sisters.

It is said that during his lifetime, Genghis Kahn, the great Mongol conqueror, eradicated crime among his people. Punishable were disloyalty, lying and failure to share their gains.

UNCLE SAM needs more materials and increased production to clothe the armed forces and you can do your part by making your present clothes last.

confidential with his best friend over a cup of coffee, President Roosevelt didn't let drop any remarks about it in public places. We must learn, as they have, to stop and think before talking about the war or repeating rumors.

Temperatures went from summer to winter in a hurry, the mercury dropping from a high of 65 degrees to below freezing since yesterday.

This is a holiday for bankers, and some public officials, but in general Armistice Day did not mean cessation of work for most of the workmen of the community. The twenty-fourth anniversary of the 1918 armistice finds the nation engaged in another huge world-wide struggle with demand for war production so great that it could not be interrupted for the day.

Weather conditions today were almost identical with those of Armistice Day a year ago. The weather was real wintry like, and snow flurries were noticed during the night. It was a splendid day for hunting, and quite a few folks who were having a holiday today were out enjoying their favorite sport.

Owen Fox states that due to the scarcity of acorns in the woods, and the fact that many of the wild berries, upon which the wild birds feed, are scarce, it is going to be hard on bird life this winter, should the weather be very cold. Owing to the wet weather this fall, he states, many of the berries did not ripen, but seemed to rot and dry up on the vines and bushes.

Andreasen of the Salvation Army. The parade tonight will be the big feature of today's celebration locally, and will start promptly at 8 o'clock, moving out from East Washington and Spruce streets to the Diamond, and thence up Jefferson street to Grant street, where it will disband.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon, the customary Armistice Day dinner of local veterans took place in The Castleton, and at 4 o'clock this afternoon members of Harry L. McBridge Post, V. F. W., will have their first Armistice Day dinner at the Fisher cottage at East Brook.

SOVIET TROOPS ON OFFENSIVE IN CAUCASUS

beleaguered city Russian artillery forces destroyed three German tanks and blew up a Nazi ammunition dump.

Defense forces south of the city launched an attack and drove the Germans from several strongpoints.

Repulse Nazi Attempts

The Stalingrad defenders repulsed weak German attempts to infiltrate into Soviet positions and the enemy suffered heavy losses in the fighting within the city.

On the Black Sea coast the German drive on the Port of Tuapse continued to bog down before determined Soviet resistance. Red navy marines fought with the Russian army troops and drove the Nazis from an important hill position.

Repeated German attacks south-east of Nalchik, on the eastern slope of the Caucasus mountains, were beaten off by Soviet forces. Six German tanks were destroyed during the day's fighting.

A Berlin report that Luftwaffe divebombers has attacked the fortress of Schlussemburg, east of Leningrad, gave the first hint that the stronghold had fallen to the Russians. At last accounts the fortress on the shore of Lake Ladoga was held by the Germans and was a constant menace to Leningrad. There has been no Russian claim that the fort had been recaptured, and no German admission that it had fallen.

Transport Sunk

While Soviet ground forces battered the Germans from Leningrad to the Caucasus, the Red navy in the Baltic sank another German transport. The Soviet communique said the destroyed vessel was a 10,000-ton ship.

Russian snipers were reported resuming activity on the Leningrad front, and were credited with killing 465 German troops during the past two days.

Since Sunday, the communique added, 33 German planes were shot down by Soviet aircraft and ground defenses.

Berlin's communique on the Russian front was subdued. It made no claims of gains anywhere, and was filled with complaints about the weather and difficult terrain which were blamed for the slow-down in the German offensive.

WEIGHT OF WOMEN'S OUTFIT

A woman can be completely dressed in clothes weighing 21 ounces. This 21 ounces includes the weight of her hat and shoes, which averages 10½ ounces. The average weight of a man's summer clothes is 128 ounces.

ARMISTICE DAY—1942

The grave where the unknown soldier rests at Arlington Cemetery has a greater significance this year. It must also represent many in far places whose graves can be marked only by the triumph of the cause they served.

There must be no armistice until we have made certain that they did not die in vain. Anything less would be a betrayal of the supreme sacrifice they have made.

At the regular meeting of The College club, Tuesday evening, in The Castle, Dr. G. Langdon White of Cleveland was heard as their main speaker. "Guest Night" was also observed.

Miss Sara Dunmore, chairman of the program for the occasion, introduced Dr. White, who gave an inspiring talk on "Geo-Politics and the Global War". He stressed the thought that we have to get the world's view of the whole situation before a true happy medium can be successfully attained.

An informal social period ensued. Hostesses for the occasion included Miss Rose Uhl, Miss Frances Maxwell, Mrs. Thomas Sadler, Mrs. Paris Shoaff, Miss Emily Johnston, Mrs. Arthur Walker and Miss Clara Hartshorn.

Their next meeting will be a Christmas party on December 8 at the same place. The committee on arrangements includes Mrs. Geneva Walker, Mrs. Gust Sanfilippo and Mrs. E. J. Connerly. Hostesses, however, will be Mrs. Dale Andrews, Miss Marian Campbell, Mrs. Floyd Geiger, Miss Sarah Patterson, Miss Nettie Hinkson and Mrs. Arthur White.

ROBERTA ALLEN BRIDE OF LIEUT. R. EDWARDS

Impressively celebrated was the wedding ceremony which took place Tuesday evening, Nov. 10, in the Central Presbyterian church, when Miss Roberta Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Allen, of R. D. 2, New Castle, became the bride of Lieut. Roderick Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Edwards, of West Washington street.

The vows were exchanged at 8:30 o'clock in the presence of the immediate families, friends and guests, with "open church" being observed. The Rev. Robert Meade Patterson, pastor, officiated, using the single ring service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attractive in a street length dress of sapphire blue wool crepe, with matching accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of roses and gardenias. Serving as her sister's only attendant, Mrs. Robert Brenner chose a blue street length frock in velvet. Her accompaniments matched and she wore a shoulder bouquet of yellow roses.

Jack Patterson served the bridegroom as best man, and Paul Allen, Jr., ushered.

Adding further to the impressiveness of the event, Robert Brenner presided at the organ, contributing appropriate nuptial selections a half hour preceding the entrance of the bridal party and throughout the ceremony.

Immediately following a congratulatory period the couple left on a short trip.

The bride and groom are both graduates of Union high school. Mrs. Edwards is a graduate of the local Jameson Memorial hospital school of nursing, where she will continue with her profession until her husband, Lieut. Edwards, is more permanently located in the United States armed forces. Lieut. Edwards, who attended Geneva college, recently received his commission at Fort Sill, Okla. He has been in the service since February of 1941, and will leave here Saturday for Fort Bragg, N. C., where he will take up his new duties.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Smith, of Bradford, were out-of-town guests present at the ceremony.

Tables of 500 were in play, with prizes going to Mrs. Clyde Stump, Mrs. Jesse Camblin and Mrs. James McWilliams.

Special guests were Mrs. Harry Double and Mrs. Carl Fleming of Los Angeles, Calif. November 24 Mrs. James McWilliams, Laurel boulevard, will entertain.

ANNIVERSARY OF 1918 ARMISTICE

THE allied world observes, with reverence and sadness and a wistful wondering, the twenty-fourth anniversary of the advent of a strange silence to lands where for four years the heavy guns had roared. Joy reigned unconfined. The agony was ended. Through the delirium a hope surged. A war had been fought to end war and had been won. That dream of lasting peace buoyed up anxious hearts in the homes of many lands.

The millions living today who did not experience the joy of that first Armistice Day can never envision the exaltation of the hour. The agony of suspense had been lifted. Poignant emotions, long pent-up in the human heart, burst forth unrestrained. Men and women wept and others laughed, and pale, begrimed soldiers arose from their shelters in the earth and stood mute, bewildered by the unfamiliar quiet.

"The armies," says Winston Churchill, "halted where they stood. Motionless in the silence, the soldiers looked at each other with vacant eyes. A sense of awe, of perplexity and even of melancholy stole coldly upon men who a few moments before had been striding forward in the ardor of hot pursuit. . . . So quiet were the forward camps on the night of victory that one would have thought that they belonged to brave men . . . defeated."

In their attitude there was perhaps a prophetic note. The thing for the defeat of which ten millions gave their lives from 1914 to 1918 is again on the loose. For three years it has been wreaking havoc in Europe and for twice that length of time in the Orient. Again the men of the United States are engaged in combat with ruthless foes on far-flung battlefields.

Is the dream of a world of free and peace-loving people and of free governments a delusion? Americans cannot answer for the world, but for themselves they say that the ideal is a living thing, that it is as strong and valiant as it was in 1918—and better informed.

Here in America, there is a fresh resolve that the principles of government and of human freedom laid down more than a century and a half ago shall endure. Against all disillusionment, all discouragement, this nation will fight for peace—peace that can come only with the crushing of the totalitarian idea everywhere. And it will win.

WAR'S SECOND PHASE

The war's initial phase for the United States has ended. From this day until victory is achieved armaments and men will be piled up in whatever quantity it is needed to destroy the axis, Japan and Hitler will feel this might increasingly hour by hour.

Concentrating men and weapons at strategic places around the world has been a stupendous undertaking for the allies. The tragic strain of "too little" has run through this undertaking. The British had too little in Norway, in Greece and Crete and, heretofore, in North Africa. But when Rommel's Nazis won a foot race with the Italians to escape the vengeance that is their due, there is no longer doubt that the allies now have what it takes.

The allies had too little in Singapore and Burma and Hongkong. The United States, in the first few months of a war effort for which the enemy thought it could not prepare in time, had too little at Guam, Wake, the Philippines and the Western Aleutian islands.

Now all that is changing. Since MacArthur's dash to the assistance of American forces in the Solomons, the tide of battle there has not been going too well for the Japs. Japan's hold on the Aleutians has been reduced to a precarious fingertip grip which must soon be surrendered entirely. America has reinforced Britain in Africa to such effect that the axis has suffered its first great defeat of the war.

The allies are at last getting their strength effectively placed. There is talk of an offensive out of India against Burma. Certainly Britain and America are strong in Middle Asia. And with a tremendous striking force on the British Isles, now supplemented by another on Italy's flank in the Mediterranean, the allies seem to be on the verge of taking complete possession of the offensive.

They will not relinquish it short of complete victory.

BRITISH WORKING, TOO

American shipyards are making marvelous records in the race to provide cargo craft for war use. Henry Kaiser's succession of feats has caught much of the publicity, but at the same time other yards are performing what, but for him, would be front-page miracles.

The secret is pre-fabrication. We think of this as a prime example of Yankee ingenuity.

But the British ask us to remember that with little fanfare they have been breaking shipbuilding records themselves through pre-fabrication. Blackouts forbid the 24-hour operation which is common over here. Yet one yard is launching a 10,000-tonner every three weeks.

It is said that Mussolini would be willing to accept a divorce from Hitler under allmomy.

Well anyway the coffee rationing which starts this month may be a good thing for your coffee nerves.

What has become of the old fashioned political pessimist who thought we would have to organize a new party?

A patriotic man in our neighborhood is willing to turn the lawn-mower over to the scrap drive and keep the metal washing machine for his wife.

One of our patriotic friends says that when the government rations him to 2½ pounds of meat a week he is going to cut out spareribs and sauerkraut.

German prisoners in Egypt are reported as expressing doubt about Hitler's ability to win the war. This is enough to send the Fuehrer into another rage.

This may be the machine age but November this year doesn't seem to be a good month for machines. For instance, look what happened to Tammany, Hague and Kelly-Nash.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TRAINING CHILD FOR HOME TASKS

Today I wish to offer some suggestions on training the growing child to help at home. In the first place, the parents should sit down together, when the child is not present, even long before he old enough to help, in order to agree on what this child can do and should be expected to do about the home. Then they should decide on how to train him for his duties. From time to time they should revise these plans. In case there are several children, however, over five or six years old, the matter might well be discussed by the entire family in the spirit of a family council.

If one parent criticizes the other parent before the child is not requiring this child to help enough about the home, the effect is very bad. When this happens the other parent tends to defend the youngster and require less of him, and he to choose to do less and less, and even that grudgingly.

Set Regular Time
The parents should aim to have the child learn to do a few definite jobs at a regular time without being told when to do them. Let the goals all be self-reminding, self-starting, self-directing. Having him hang around half an hour or an hour before starting to help is merely to make a robot of him, and make him dislike his chores.

Long before the child is assigned a definite job to do regularly each day, he should have learned to take care of himself, dress himself, prepare himself for meals, and appear at the table promptly, bring himself in from play, and when the lights appear send himself to bed at a definite, regular hour each night.

One Job at a Time
Don't expect too much of the growing child. Begin with only one assigned regular job, one he is able to do well, such as emptying the wastebasket at a regular time each day. Add no new jobs until he has done this job without prompting for at least 10 days.

In case your child six, eight or 10 years of age is supposed to do several jobs daily but does none of them without being told repeatedly to do them, it may be wise to reduce them to just one job until he has learned complete responsibility for it.

Should some reward or approval plan aid you in training this child to do the one or more jobs assigned, use it, but as soon as it fails to pull, drop it, and by all means don't proceed to scold or punish the youngster for failing to win the reward.

As a rule, such a plan won't work. Then what? Set a penalty, having reduced the jobs to only one. Choose a penalty which will be announced and applied without show of emotions and which will surely work. When your child is only age volunteers to help, show strong appreciation. Don't then assign this as a required job. Put your trust in his volunteering more and more.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. How much advice should parents give their married sons and daughters?

A. No more than they ask for; it is well to be a little stingy with advice, even then.

ARMISTICE DAY — 1918

We shouted: "It is over! Done the anguish and the pain! Done the fighting and the dying! War was never strike again!" And we turned to celebration; danced and sang the hours away.

But again the cannons thunder and once more for peace we pray.

We who cheered can still remember we were promised war would cease.

They would find with pacts and pledges ways to give us lasting peace.

But old hatreds still continued. Scarce our cheers had died away.

Ere they'd started plotting planning for the war we face today!

Will it be again, I wonder? Will the same old hates remain? Will another generation have to go to war again?

When this ghastly strife is ended and the terms of peace are made.

Will mankind be free from terror or forever be afraid? (Copyright, 1942, Edgar A. Guest)

Pennsylvania is in the rheumatic fever belt.

Rheumatic fever causes deaths among young children.

It kills more between 10 and 14 years of age than any disease.

Between 15 to 24 it is second killer only to tuberculosis.

Rheumatic fever begins with acute attacks in childhood.

Attacks extend into adult life. Many so-called "growing pains" are really rheumatic fever.

Pains in joints or muscles are due to rheumatic infection.

Involvement of the heart usually follows rheumatic fever.

Cold and damp seem to favor onset of the condition.

Poverty and hereditary tendency are factors to consider.

Children with rheumatic fever need careful care.

A coffee salesman was traveling through the south, and as he waited for a train in a little southern town he chatted with a lazy looking colored man idling on a bench at the station.

"Ever drink coffee?" he inquired, with an eye to stirring up interest in his line.

The colored man allowed as how he did. He drank a lot of coffee. Fifty cups a day, he answered.

"Fifty cups a day! Doesn't it keep you awake?" inquired the astonished salesman.

"Well, it helps," answered the colored man.

Rio Held Good Base For Roving Envoy
Try To Consolidate Southern Friends
Office Of War Information Maps Plan

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Upon what spot in Latin America should Uncle Sam concentrate the nub of his effort to publicize all the new world's southern republics into one group, among themselves and allied with our own country, in opposition to the Axis?

The Office of War Information is studying this question pretty intensively. It is worth consideration. Our brand of national advertising was quite effectively employed on the lower side of the Rio Grande during the last conflict, and it should be a still simpler proposition today, for the reason that our present diplomacy has a more friendly comprehension of the Latin temperament than that of Woodrow Wilson did. We might even succeed in converting Argentina, not to mention Chile, which already shows symptoms aligning itself with us.

My own experience during the 1914-18 period was as a Yankee publicity manager in the River Plate area, with Buenos Aires as headquarters.

Argentina then, as now, was very stubbornly neutral, but it might have been won over with a reasonable degree of tactfulness from Washington, and it probably can be today if we're as suave with the folk there as the Roosevelt administration has demonstrated that it knows how to be.

The point from which our local management undoubtedly ought to operate is Rio de Janeiro, Mexico City is highly important but it's so close to us as to be readily accessible from our side of the border. Buenos Aires is the western hemisphere's premier southern metropolis and needs to be energetically cultivated, but it's still exceedingly neutral, whereas Rio is belittled one of our anti-Axis-party members.

A Vital Jump
Now, South America's eastern coastal bulge isn't to be forgotten, a bulge opposite to Vichy French Africa's western bulge, with Dakar at its westernmost, the shortest hop across the southern Atlantic and apt to become a jump of the utmost military importance as the war rages along.

At the extremity of Brazil's easterly bulge, toward Dakar, is Natal. However, only a trifling jump from the bulge's apex is the far more important Brazilian city of Pernambuco (also known as Recife), with materially better port facilities than Natal. As to the bulge, I'd award the prize to Pernambuco, of course not disregarding Natal in emergencies.

On that bulge issue Pernambuco seems to me to have the edge on every other place.

Rio isn't geographically as available as either of the other two. The fact remains, though, that it's the Brazilian capital, whence come all the republic's wartime orders, and it isn't far outside the critical orbit, either.

Rio, then, strikes me as IT beyond the tip of Florida down to Tierra del Fuego.

Well, suppose a Yankee press agent is dispatched to solidify us with Latin America?

What's due to him for his itinerary?

The World and the Mud Puddles

HE ASSUMES WAR POWERS

In every war thus far engaged in by the United States the President has seen fit to exercise powers that would neither be dreamed of nor tolerated in days of peace. Many a time the national safety has required the exercise of powers in war that they never would accept in times of peace.

Hence, it has become a commonplace for commentators to speak of the war time powers of the President. Just now it is being said that the President under his war time powers has the right to suspend farm products parity payments in the event that Congress refuses to suspend them. That the commentators say is the President's right under his war time powers.

Curiously, enough, the Constitution makes no mention of any war time powers of the President. Actually, in so far as the Constitution is concerned, the President has exactly the same powers in times of war as he has in times of peace. A declaration of war confers no additional powers on the President and takes no powers from him that he has enjoyed in times of peace. The Constitution makes absolutely no distinction between war powers and peace powers.

If there is any distinction at all, it probably is this. In easy going, peaceful times, the President does only what he is authorized to do by the Constitution, while in days of war he does whatever seems necessary provided it is not positively prohibited by the Constitution. In any event the people usually are willing for the President to do anything he considers necessary to the war effort.

But as for special war powers, they do not exist under the Constitution.

"On the twentieth anniversary of gangsterism I think of you and your unique historical achievements in firm friendship and devotion."

"What you, Roger, and your gangsters have accomplished has become a turning point in human history. Change 'gangsterism' to 'Fascism' and 'Roger' to 'Duce' and you have the gist of a telegram sent 'probably collect' by Gangster Hitler to Gangster Mussolini on the occasion of Fascism's twentieth anniversary."

After receiving the telegram Gangster Mussolini invited some of the Nazi officials "visiting" in Rome, and a large number of his own gang, and assured the assemblage solemnly that Italy and Germany would stick together to the end.

Hitler Frantically Seeks To Meet Allied Strategy In North African Move

Editor's Note: In the following article Major Paul C. Raborg, noted military analyst and author of "Mechanized Might", discusses the overwhelming strategic victory the United Nations achieved through invasion of French North Africa.

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
Written Especially for International
News Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Adolf Hitler's scrapping of the Compiègne armistice by sending his troops to occupy every nook and corner of France today was about the least the Fuehrer could do to offset the advantage gained by American occupation of key points in French North Africa.

Moreover, by pushing air-borne troops to French Tunisia he indicated that everything possible would be done to prevent the merger of the allied forces driving east and west across northern Africa—a union that would mean the end of what's left of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's shattered and rapidly-retreating army.

Complete occupation of France, and apparently the French Mediterranean island of Corsica along with the dispatch of his highly-trained troops to Tunisia were Hitler's moves aimed at blocking what he termed an attempt by American and British forces to invade continental Europe.

Brilliant Strategy
So far allied forces haven't even indicated they intend a continental invasion within the near future but the American invasion of French Morocco and Algeria was a brilliant strategic action indeed. It showed just what can be achieved by coordinated and synchronized work of the British and American land, sea and air units, together with the fighting French and other smaller United Nations' commands.

There is almost no doubt that the Axis nations now will order the Mediterranean filled with submarines which may be accompanied by a great concentration of Axis air strength, land-based on the islands of Corsica, Sardinia, Sicily, southern Greece, Crete and the Dodecanese. But this will draw his submarines away from the battle of the Atlantic, and his airplanes from his other war fronts where they are much needed. Nevertheless, it is almost a certainty we may expect this effort.

The United Nations now hold the entire north coast of Africa with the exception of Libya which soon may be ours. This has driven a wedge between Hitler and our western hemisphere through which he never will pass.

Hitler Encircled
Hitler is tightly encircled by the red armies on the east, the United States and British armed forces on the north, the Atlantic ocean and North sea on the west and the Arctic on the north. This encirclement, regardless of any local reverses, will become more and more tightly drawn until it becomes Hitler's and Mussolini's noose. From now on Europe will be more and more tightly blockaded by the United Nations.

By our successful north African campaign we must be bringing the people of Italy closer and closer to withdrawing from this war when they are given the opportunity. The United Nations have almost certainly insured that Turkey, Spain and Portugal will never switch to the side of the Axis. If any of them should be invaded by Hitler, the armed forces of the democracies are in a position where they can really render help.

Allies Can Aid
By landing troops in northern French Morocco, we have placed our southern side of the straits of Gibraltar, and thus have insured the free passage of our vessels to and from the Atlantic. The Portuguese Madeira Islands to the west of the straits of Gibraltar, the Spanish Canary island to their south, and the Portuguese Cape Verde islands west of Dakar, are more than dangerous as possible Axis air and submarine bases. Our naval units in the Atlantic are probably on constant patrol to see that the Axis nations cannot seize any of them in some unexpected manner.

The invasion of north Africa has far better effects than an invasion of Europe. Had the United Nations assaulted the continent, Hitler would only have to mass troops to meet one invasion. Now he has between 6,000 and 8,000 miles of sea and land borders to watch because he doesn't know where the European blow yet to be fall. In fact, he will have to overextend everywhere, and will therefore be vulnerable to attack everywhere. Yes, the operators of the armed forces of the democracies in north Africa are amazing in the scope of the strategic defeat they have delivered to Herr Hitler and his Axis satellites.

All Must Register

Every car or truck owner must register if he wants gasoline after December 1. The owner of an automobile will receive an "A" rationing card from the registration officials. This is his basic card and will entitle him to about 16 gallons of gasoline per month. If his work requires more gasoline he can get a supplemental application form at the board where he registers and this he must file with the Board to be appointed to pass upon such applications. "B" and "C" cards will be issued to those entitled to them.

A "B" card will be issued to a person requiring more gasoline in the transaction of his business and a "C" card will be given to war workers where need can be proven. In New Castle, registration will be by initial. If your name comes within the list of initials from A to G inclusive, Thursday is your day. If your name falls within the bracket of H to P inclusive, you will register Friday. If your name comes within the letters Q through Z, Saturday is your day.

Have your owner's card with you the numbers of the five tires on your car and the number of the Federal 5 tax stamp that is on the windshield. If you didn't get that stamp, you get no gasoline. If you haven't purchased the stamp from the post office, better do it now. Remember, the only ration card you will get when you register is an "A" card, the basic card. If you are entitled to more gasoline, you will get it upon submitting the proper application to the board.

Asserts French Fight Italians

Correspondent Also Says
French Fleet To Join United Nations After Hitler Move

(BULLETINS)

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The former Vichy correspondent of National Broadcasting company, who is now at Berne, Switzerland, reported today that French troops are fighting Italian forces following a declaration by Chief of State Marshal Henri Philippe Petain that German occupation of France leaves the country "free to defend herself."

He did not state specifically whether France would defend herself against the Axis or an attempted Allied invasion, NEO said.

The correspondent, Paul Archinard, based his statements on "telephonic information" from Vichy.

The French fleet has left Toulon to join forces with the United Nations, he said.

Petaim was quoted as saying he would not leave France under any circumstances, that he had done his duty and would not stand in the way of measures taken by the French to defend themselves.

Editor's Note: In view of the fact that Petain bitterly protested the German occupation in violation of the treaty of Compiègne, it was logical that French defense would be against the Nazi invasion rather than any extension of Allied military activities begun in North Africa.

The marshal, however, apparently did not state specifically that France once again has re-entered the war against her traditional enemy—Germany.

At 6:50 o'clock they were summoned by an alarm from box 57 to 113 Charles street, where children playing with matches set fire to a coal shed. The loss was placed at $5.

Four Destroyers Launched Today

(International News Service) KEARNY, N. J., Nov. 11.—Four new destroyers, sent down the ways two at a time, were launched today in the shipyard of the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company.

Telephone signals enabled workmen to start the destroyers Ringgold and Stevenson simultaneously down the ways at opposite ends of the yard. When the Hackensack river had been swept clean of cradles and debris, they were followed by the Schroeder and the Stockton.

The quadruple launching was only part of the company's Armistice Day program—four naval auxiliary craft were launched in the new yard at Port Newark, N. J., and kels were laid there for two naval escort vessels.

YOUNGSTERS PLAY CARDS

That Extra Something!
...You can spot it every time

SPECIALIZING in any job is important. And, it takes only one taste of ice-cold Coca-Cola to tell you that its makers have specialized in refreshment for years. They created this utterly different drink 57 years ago. Today it's still individual—and delightfully so.

Note the difference in taste. You can sense the special blend of flavors. Sip again. Your thirst is gone before you know it, but something else arrives. This is refreshment. And it's refreshment that goes into energy—quickly—pleasantly.

When you've finished, you know you've enjoyed a drink made to a standard of quality, not to a standard of price. Folks the country over feel the same way about it. They appreciate the genuine... the real thing... Coke... Coca-Cola.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called Coke. Coca-Cola and Coke mean the same thing... the real thing... "coming from a single source, and well known to the community."

Boy and girl, recreation and refreshment! There's two for company and two more for happiness and satisfaction. You know refreshment's first name, of course. Everybody knows Coke.

The best is always the better buy!

Mystery Blasts At New Bedford Are Explained

Mystery blasts which alarmed New Bedford vicinity Monday night were caused by boys who stole aerial bombs and other fireworks from a fireworks plant, then set off some of the bombs on the Ropp farm at New Bedford, according to authorities today.

When a man discovered some aerial bombs and other fireworks in the rear of the New Bedford church he notified the state police who communicated with Sheriff Clyde Badger and J. M. Dunlap, juvenile officer for the county.

They took charge of the explosives then discovered who the boys were who had stolen the fireworks. The boys told the authorities they had secured the fireworks to touch off to celebrate the armistice to night and the Monday night blasts were to determine if they would go off.

There was nothing sinister in the explosions, the authorities explained today.

Named Head Of DuBois Center

Merle E. Campbell To Fill Administrative Headship Of Undergraduate Center

Merle E. Campbell
(Special To The News)

STATE COLLEGE, Nov. 11.—Merle E. Campbell, former instructor in fine arts and engineering drawing at the DuBois undergraduate center, the Pennsylvania State college, and for the past few months assistant supervisor of undergraduate centers of the Pennsylvania State college, has been selected to fill the administrative headship of the DuBois undergraduate center.

Mr. Campbell takes the place of former acting administrative head, Philip K. Ross, who has been granted a leave of absence from the college to accept a first lieutenant in the Engineering Corps of the U. S. army.

A graduate of the Pennsylvania State college, Mr. Campbell first came to the DuBois center in 1939. At that time Mr. Campbell was instrumental in making the fine arts curriculum one of the most popular courses of study in the undergraduate centers. Like the original head of the DuBois junior college, Prof. Edwin W. Zoller, Mr. Campbell is an artist in his own right. Several of his canvases have won recognition in exhibitions, his most recent paintings, "R. F. D.—Afternoon," receiving first prize in oils at the New Castle Artists' League exhibit last December.

In addition to his duties as head of the DuBois undergraduate center, Mr. Campbell has been given the recently created post of liaison man in this area for the Army-Navy-Marines Enlisted Reserve Corps. In this capacity he will not only handle the reserve enlistments of DUC students, but will act as a civilian representative of the respective service arms for all the men in the area served by the center.

Children's Shop Opens Tomorrow

New Tots' Apparel Shop Will Open For Business On North Mill Street

To cater to the clothing needs of New Castle children from the age of a day to the age of seven years, there is now a Children's Shop, which will open Thursday, November 12, at 106 North Mill street. The public is invited to attend its opening tomorrow.

Promoters Mrs. Elida B. Munro and Mrs. Margaret A. Gibson will specialize in clothes for boys and girls of pre-school ages. They plan also to give personalized service. For instance, if mother finds just the coat for Susie, but prefers red to blue, the wanted color will be ordered. And this service will extend to all articles carried by the shop.

Opening stock includes an exceptionally wide assortment of dresses and coats for little girls.

A complete redecorating job on the new shop—with its clear pale blue walls and new wall-cases and fixtures of blonde maple wood—makes the Children's Shop an attractive place to shop for baby's new snuggle-ducky or corduroy play overalls for Johnny.

He ought to fly first to Havana, for a brief visit and to get acquainted. From Havana, Mexico City should be his destination of a few days' duration. Thence he's scheduled to scoot down the west coast, looking in at an occasional port as far as Valparaiso; thence on to Santiago, the Chilean capital. Picking up a suitable guy to keep the Chilean press interested, his next hop will be across the Andes to Buenos Aires. There he'll have to do some scientific fixing, including the establishment of a permanent, competent local office.

Then on up the coast to Rio. He'll have to switch back and forth between Rio and Buenos Aires. He'll have to swish similarly, every week or two, from Rio up to Pernambuco and Natal, and cross as the muss develops itself, to Dakar and back again.

There'll be a circuit for him consisting of Washington to Mexico City, from Mexico down to Valparaiso, across to B. A., up from B. A. to Rio, from Rio up to Pernambuco or Natal, from Pernambuco or Natal back again from Dakar and so on while the war lasts.

Tire Return Is Halted By Lack Of Forms Here

Railway Express Company Runs Out Of Forms And Can't Take Tires

OVER 8,500 TIRES IN STOCKPILE HERE

Railway Express Agency officials here will begin accepting motorists' tires again as soon as the government supplies them with more acceptance forms—that might be today, tomorrow or Friday.

Car owners calling to donate tires are being asked to bring them in within a few days, or after press announcement of the receipt of forms is made.

Railway Express will pick up tires within the city's eight wards, but motorists can personally deliver them. It will help lighten the firm's mounting pick-up burden.

Will Pick Tires Up

"We'll begin picking them up when we get the forms and can accept the tires," Manager J. W. Anderson said.

Anderson learned that both Cleveland and Pittsburgh—key tire depots like this city—are out of forms.

Government spokesmen have promised a new supply within a short time. Anderson earned in his conversation with Pittsburgh.

Thursday brings the first of a three-day registration period for gasoline rationing—and, apparently, car owners will have to tell registrars plainly that they have a sixth or seventh tire ready to turn in but cannot do so until the government forms reach Railway Express.

Now 8,500 In Stockpile

Late last night the express firm's bulging depot here—collection point for this area—held 8,500 tires, half of which were turned over by New Castle car owners.

Almost every incoming train brings additional loads of the extra tires.

"The government certainly is getting a stock of tires," Anderson said. "It was evident that federal authorities underestimated the number of acceptance forms needed."

Motorists with tires to donate call Bell 345, the Railway Express office, within a few days—or as soon as press announcement of the receipt of forms is made. No tires are to be taken to the Lawrence Auto Sales Co. garage. All tires in excess of five must be turned in.

Secretary To China Tells Of YWCA Work

Miss Mildred Owen Is Speaker At All-Association Dinner Tuesday Evening

Approximately 500 Y. W. C. A. members and friends heard Miss Mildred Owen, Girl Reserve national secretary to China, tell of her work in that country at the all-association dinner held Tuesday evening in the Cathedral as a part of the Y. W. C. A. World Fellowship Week observance.

Miss Owen, who expects to return to China in the spring, told of her work among the younger girls in the rural districts of China and of how they first got the fathers' consent to teach the girls reading and writing. About 800 girls were taught to read and write, after which they acted as teachers and were paid for their work. The first that Chinese girls have been paid for working, Miss Owen told of the wonderful assistance given by these girls and the Y. W. C. A. in China during the Japanese invasion, and the war work they have been doing ever since.

Mrs. J. Glenn Berry, presiding officer at the dinner, introduced three new local Y. W. C. A. groups, the defense recreation group for girls working in defense factories, which will meet Thursday evening for games and organization; the Cosmopolitan club, a new organization of women of six or seven different nationalities, including American; and the new club from Union high school.

SPARE GUN SAVES FLYER'S LIFE.

His habit of carrying an extra gun in the cockpit saved the life of Sgt. K. B. Taylor, above, of Preselle, Saskatchewan, Canada. While attacking Axis shipping off Tobruk, North Africa, Taylor's turret guns jammed just as three Italian planes ganged up on him. Taylor brought into play his spare machine gun and fought off the enemy armmen.

President Makes Short Address At Armistice Ceremony This Morning

GENERAL PERSHING AT PRESIDENT'S SIDE

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN (U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ARLINGTON, Va., Nov. 11.—President Roosevelt, in an Armistice Day address, declared today that "American and British brothers-in-arms are again fighting on French soil" and "fighting against a German militarism which transcends a hundred fold the brutality and barbarism of 1918."

Mr. Roosevelt pledged "inevitable, final defeat" for the Axis powers and stated that "the forces of liberation are advancing."

The president made his address after he laid a wreath at the tomb of the unknown soldier, and had bared his head in a minute of silent prayer for those lost in the first world war.

As Britain, Russia, China and the United States grow rapidly to full strength, the president said, the opponents of decency and justice have passed their peak.

"And—as the result of recent events—the United Nations forces are being joined by large numbers of the fighting men of our traditional ally, France. On this day of all days, it is heartening for us to know that soldiers of France go forward with the United Nations."

Gen. Pershing Present

At his side on the cold windy bluff overlooking the nation's capitol was General John J. Pershing, commander of the American expeditionary forces during the world war. The president declared that the American unknown soldier did not

LOANS FOR EMPLOYED WOMEN

We're addressing any employed woman in this community who has a problem which cash can solve. Borrowing money is never wise if it means making difficulties worse... but there are certain circumstances in which a well-planned loan is the best way to get out of debt.

And when ready cash isn't available for needed medical or dental work, needed clothing, for training which will increase one's earning power—then a loan is also common-sense. Here at Personal Finance Company we specialize in serving women. If you need cash—$10 to $250 or more—we'll see that you get it without embarrassment or delay, on just your own signature, without involving your friends or employer. There is no difficulty in handling monthly payments on a loan here. For example: $10.05 per mo. pays $100 loan in 12 mos.

If you need cash, we'll be glad to serve you. Special quick service during lunch hour. Come in or phone. It will be a pleasure to serve you. Personal Finance Company, 2nd Floor, Woods Bldg., New Castle, Pa. Phone 2100.

French Fleet May Join Allies

By KINGSBURY SMITH (U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Latest reports on the swift-moving developments in Europe today encourage the hope in official circles in Washington that France may soon re-enter the war on the side of the Allies.

Official Washington was elated by reports that Marshal Henri Petain, French chief of state, had notified the armed forces of France that they were free to defend themselves against Germany as a result of Hitler's move to occupy all of France in violation of the Compiègne armistice.

Rumors that French troops already have attacked Italian forces on the southern French frontier also cheered official circles.

It is now believed that the United Nations stand a good chance of winning over the French fleet to the Allied cause. In view of the German move to occupy all of France, the hope prevails in official quarters in Washington that Admiral Jean Darlan, former commander of all Vichy forces, who is now a "guest" of American military authorities in Algiers, may be persuaded to appeal to the French fleet to join the Allies.

Alderman Will Be Appointed By Governor James

Sometime within the near future it is expected that Governor Arthur H. James will appoint a successor to Alderman Wallace J. Ewing of the second ward, recently deceased. The appointment will be made until the next election which will be in November, 1943, at which time a successor will be chosen by the voters of the second ward.

Who the appointee will be is not known. It is understood several applicants have signified their desire to get the appointment.

Since the election on November 3 a number of people have thought there would be a vacancy James C. Brice having been elected to the general assembly. This is not true, as the two offices are not incompatible. Such positions as alderman, burgess, county commissioner and the like are not incompatible with the office of general assemblyman.

Surprise Blackout Stymies Aviators

Lose Bearings in West Virginia's State Blackout; Get Aid To Land In Ball Field

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 11.—West Virginia's state-wide blackout last night was far too effective for Pilot James Jacobs and Observer Merle Nixdorf.

The two aviators left a Hollidays Cove, W. Va., field at 8:55 last night, and promptly at 9 o'clock the sirens turned the ground into a meaningless patch of darkness.

Jacobs and Nixdorf lost their bearings, but finally reached Washington, where they circled at a low altitude until a motorist realized their predicament and turned his headlights on an old ball field on route 40, near here.

Despite the weather conditions, Jacobs, a CAA pilot from Steubenville, O. made a perfect landing. Nixdorf comes from Follinsbee W. Va.

Says Farm Labor Shortage Can Be Licked In U. S.

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—Describing the system of migratory labor camps in the East as "proof that the farm labor shortage can be licked," regional farm security administration director J. H. Wood Tuesday warned against "an alarming tendency to decrease production next year."

"We need action to halt widespread farm sales and abandonments," Wood said. In those regions where camps have been established, he pointed out, there have been no serious crop losses due to labor shortages.

"Eastern farmers should feel encouraged to grow more food next year," Wood declared. "Just as 'food can win the war and write the peace,' lack of it can lose both."

This year, 14 migratory camps supplied farmers with between 225,000 and 250,000 man days of labor.

Reminds School Bus Operators Of Law

Transporting Passengers To Sports Events Illegal Without P. U. C. Sanction

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 11.—Public Utility Commission Chairman John Siggins, Jr., today warned that school bus operators who are putting dollars before patriotism by transporting passengers for hire to sports and similar events without a certificate from the Commission authorizing such transportation, are operating illegally and will be arrested and prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

School bus operators engaging in this type of transportation are violating Commission War Emergency Order MT-1 as well as the Public Utility law. Fines for these violations may range from $25 to $300. Approximately 15 arrests already have been made.

Chairman Siggins stated that the commission intends to take full advantage of the proffered cooperation from other agencies of the State and Federal governments in breaking up this illegal transportation.

Certified bus companies are "patriotically cooperating" with the Commission and the Office of Defense Transportation of the Federal government in conserving gasoline and tires by discontinuing their group and party service as requested, ed, the chairman said, adding that the commission will not permit illegal operators to render a service which the certified operators have voluntarily suspended.

Chairman Siggins said that school bus operators must not think that the present war emergency is a "holiday" for them out of which to profit at the expense of the legitimate bus operator who is "playing fair" with his country.

School bus operators are only permitted to transport students, teachers, and school attendants enroute between their homes and their schools, and this transportation must be paid for by the school district from school district funds. Any other transportation makes a school bus operator a common carrier for compensation and subject to the jurisdiction of the commission.

YOUNG LADY, THREE MONTHS, BONDHOLDER

One of Uncle Sam's very youngest investors is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Shoup of Bessemer. She is the proud possessor of a war bond at the age of three months. Although Miss Shoup, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Harry J. Shoup of Cochran Field, Macon, Ga., has not, as yet, made any intelligible comment on her contribution to the war effort, she smiles radiantly and gurgles with satisfaction when she looks at her wise investment.

ARMY SAFER THAN GROVE CITY HOME

 (Special To The News)
 GROVE CITY, Nov. 11.—Harvey Heasley, local soldier, found home life more hazardous than army training, and as a result he will spend most of his furlough in the Grove City hospital.
 While sitting on the front porch at the home of his brother, Leon, ard, near here, Harvey accidentally discharged a shotgun. The shot carried away one of the toes of his left foot.

Rapid Progress Made In Unloading Supplies At Harbor In Algeria

 By JOHN LEE
 (U. S. Staff Correspondent)
 UNITED STATES NAVAL HEAD-QUARTERS IN ALGERIA, Nov. 9.

(Delayed)—A United States naval task force is making rapid progress in converting this tiny harbor into an efficient supply port. The small dock area, which echoed yesterday to the sound of artillery and machine gun fire, is now bustling with activity.

A later dispatch from Lee said that the American naval force took over the port facilities of Oran following the capture of that well-equipped base. Docks and other harbor facilities were immediately placed under operation of U. S. fleet officers.

Military supplies of all sorts are being hastily unloaded from our ships to provide our field forces with adequate weapons, ammunition, transport and food.

This job is one of the most difficult and most important in amphibious operations since our assault forces have had to start from scratch. They landed with only such equipment and supplies as could be brought ashore in landing boats.

As a result of this tireless activity under the navy's guiding eye a remarkably large fleet of U. S. Army trucks, jeeps and mobile guns is now streaming over the Algerian countryside.

Goods of all sorts are moving to the points where they are most needed.

The most attractive cargo that I observed was a group of American nurses, snappy and pretty. They were put ashore here preparatory to being dispersed to various emergency hospital units.

Twice today enemy planes were overheard. They dropped a few bombs in a vain effort to hit our anchored ships. They were met with a bellow of fire from anti-aircraft guns, and as far as I could see the hostile bombers failed to do any appreciable damage.

Painesville R. R. Workers End Strike

Union And Non-Union Men Agree To Mediation Of War Labor Board, Return To Work

 (International News Service)
 PAINESVILLE, O., Nov. 11.—The army ended its three-day guard over the Fairport, Painesville & Eastern Railroad Co. Tuesday with settlement of a "holiday" called by union members in protest against 30 non-union workers on train operating crews.

All workers, union and non-union members, returned to work, according to company officials, and will continue to operate the railroad which transports supplies to and from the Diamond Alkali Co., the Industrial Magnesium Co., and the Industrial Rayon Corp.

"The status quo," said James D. Ewing, mediation assistant of the war labor board, is just as it was Thursday, November 5, and will be fully restored with respect to all employees.

"The dispute between the parties will be submitted to an arbitrator who will be chosen by William H. Davis, chairman of the national war labor board, jointly with Dr. John R. Steelman, director of the U. S. conciliation service.

"The decision," Ewing concluded, "will be subject to review and approval of the war labor board."

Withdrawing Of Petition Approved

Washington County Court Implies Bank Compromise Case Attorneys Need Investigation

 (International News Service)
 WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 11.—The Washington county court on Tuesday approved withdrawal of the pre-election petition seeking nullification of a bank compromise made by Governor-elect Edward Martin, and inferentially suggested that the County Bar association investigate the ethics of the attorneys involved.

Judge Howard W. Hughes granted the withdrawal motion after Attorney W. R. Dennison told the court that J. M. Prigg's action left him "without a client." Prigg, Washington real estate man in whose behalf the petition was filed originally, personally requested the court to withdraw it last Friday, admitting that he had acted without investigating the facts.

The department asserted. Reflecting the sharp decline, the department added, was the decrease in administrative personnel and county assistance office workers since 1939 from 8,846 to 4,327.

Plaingrove Seniors Prepare For Comedy

High School Class Ready To Present "Miss Smarty," Friday Evening, In Auditorium

Senior students of Plaingrove High school are anxiously awaiting for Friday evening when they will get an opportunity to present "Miss Smarty," one of the heartiest comedies of the season, written by Wilbur Braun.

The curtain will go up promptly at 8 o'clock, and according to indications, quite a few plan to attend the high school class "blitzkrieg on gloom."

The story deals with Lizbeth Smart, charming, young debutante, who is forced by her father to attend college against her will. She has been trying for a screen career without much success. When she arrives at Barwell college, a co-ed school in California, she receives a telegram from her agent telling her to report at a major studio in Hollywood. She cannot leave without her father discovering her absence, so she persuades, Janice Burbank, a former member of Lizbeth's set to take her place at school. Lizbeth's brother, Shelley, also leaves school, but not before a close friend of his, Brant Robson, replaces him at the school. Complications arise, and a riot is on! The fun really begins when two people who have never seen each other, pretend to be brother and sister.

Those taking part in the play are: Janice Burbank, by Stella McCandless; Prof. Erasmus Eberfield, dean of Barwell college, by Ernest Schepp; Pleasant Hickey, college chaplain, Dorothy Cotton; Lizbeth Smart, Jean McBride; Shelley Smart, James Hohmann; Brant Robson, Bill Burns; Morton Gordon, Elmer Hammerschmidt; Swift Trent, Donald Shaw; Virginia Stearns, Rosanna Book; Dodie Baldwin, Betty Reese; Helen Westfield, Evelyn Gerber and Ilka Crawley, Eleanor Gardner.

Principal of school, J. Clair Smith; stage manager, Jack Mars; prompter, Jean Cirillo, and director, Angelina Castrucci.

Sewickley Army Nurse In Service For Past 25 Years

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Captain Alice D. Agnew, of Sewickley, assistant superintendent of the Army Nurse Corps, today celebrated her 25th anniversary as a United States Army nurse.

Although in her period of service she has been stationed in various parts of the world, Captain Agnew has always regarded Sewickley as her "home." Her sisters, Misses Maude Agnew and Edna Agnew, reside in Sewickley, and whenever she has had the opportunity Captain Agnew has always returned "home."

Born in Sewickley, Captain Agnew was graduated from the Homeopathic hospital, now known as Shadyside hospital, in Pittsburgh. On November 11, 1917, she reported to the base hospital, Camp Greene, N. C., as acting chief nurse. Six months later she was transferred to the Reigley Army Y S F hospital to the Regular Army Nurses Corps and passed the examination for chief nurse.

Soon she was en route to Europe on the Leviathan with contingents of the American Expeditionary Force. After serving abroad during the war, she returned to the United States in 1919. Since then she has served at various Army hospitals, including the one at Fort Mills in the Philippines.

She attained the rank of captain and the title of assistant superintendent of the Army Nurses Corps in 1940. In this position she ranks among the first 12 women in the corps.

Not only the heroes of Bataan, but all Europe's conquered peoples are Axis prisoners today.

An Armistice Day Message from the Soldiers of Former Wars to the 134,000,000 Men, Women and Children Who Are America's Soldiers in the Total War of Today

IN A DOZEN spots throughout the world, American soldiers find themselves today behind the barbed wire of prison camps. This has happened because the first months of America's participation in the war have witnessed the usual defeats of a nation suddenly and treacherously attacked.

Those imprisoned boys look to us to set them free and to avenge the defeats.

But they are not the only prisoners. The once independent nations of Europe and Asia, now under the heel of the Nazi and Jap tyrants, were also treacherously attacked.

In those nations, not soldiers alone but whole populations are now subjected to the cruelties of monsters without likeness in all history.

These millions, too, look to us of the United Nations for liberation.

This is no war for the mere defense of boundaries, or for colonies, or for trade. Difficult as it may be for us to understand, the very continuance of civilized living is at stake.

This struggle is world-wide because no single nation, not even the strongest, can any longer defend itself against gangster dictators with airplanes, submarines, and the resources of whole continents at their disposal.

Freedom, decency and justice are possible for none, save in a world where they are secure for all.

This is a lesson we have learned from Manchuria, Ethiopia, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland and the other nations over-run.

"Too bad, but it's none of our business," peace-loving men said each time. And each time that "peacefulness" (or callous indifference) of ours only made the aggressors more confident that no united front of their intended victims would ever challenge their march to conquest.

The idea of the Brotherhood of Man is no longer only an ideal. At long last it has become a law of nature, as rigorous as the law of gravity itself, which men violate at their peril.

Even to be selfish, men must have at least this much wisdom. Else this war, when won, cannot be made to stay won; and every generation will have to pay in blood for its own stupidity.

WE MUST HIGHLY RESOLVE

never again to think of ourselves as isolated from the nations of the world or from the conscience of mankind. Even during this war itself, we must not allow our unity to be destroyed by enemy propaganda devised to get us fighting among ourselves, suspecting our allies, our government officials, our neighbors—worker against employer, negro against white, Christian against Jew, Protestant against Catholic, native-born against foreign-born.

For if the United Nations remain united, and if their unity is carried into the peace, the prospects are for a new world beyond the dreams of prophets.

Human progress is not always slow. There are times when changes, long brewing as ideals in the minds of a few, are realized with electrifying suddenness.

Such a time, at this very instant, may be nearer than we think.

Let us then keep our ideals clearly before us, that we may come through with both victory and a world for which the cost of victory will be justified.

NEW CASTLE NEWS

DOWN HE GOES—The runner here didn't have a chance for the tacklers really downed him in his tracks. Action from game in east.

'Canes Work Hard For Warren Game

Tackling, Blocking And Scrimmage Feature Brisky Tuesday Drills

Injury-riddled New Castle high, ignoring a rather chilly afternoon, sped through a brisk workout Tuesday as the unbeaten 'Canes continued drills for Friday night's final engagement of the season.

The finale pits the Bridenbaughmen against Warren Harding, in the Ohioan town. The nocturnal affair starts at 8.

During the initial part of the season, tackling and blocking were underlined. The linemen showed a militant spirit as they participated in the rigid exercises.

A somewhat mild scrimmage concluded the program.

Three Players Out

Russ "Ranger" Currie, the right half speed king, again watched the proceedings. So did Tom Sanfilippo, big lineman who has been riding the bench due to a "charley horse" along the right side of the leg. Big John Zubkowski, hurt in the Campbell fracas, viewed the action with the other ailing 'Canes.

Currie, who has been plagued with injuries to his left leg during most of the season, will see action against the giant Warren club but does not figure to be in top shape.

Sanfilippo, who missed the Campbell setto and played only a few minutes against Scott, probably will be ready to occupy his right guard berth.

The locals will be all out this week to avenge last season's surprise 13-0 victory by Warren. The defeat spoiled an otherwise perfect season and cost the Bridenbaughmen the Pennsylvania championship.

In view of the fact that the tussle will be the last for "General" Lee, John Zubkowski, Russ Currie, Harvey Burris, Jesse Gunn and Dave Genkinger, the departing gridsmen will strive to unfurl their greatest performance.

Warren Busy

Overlooking the fact that they drop their last battle to Niles, 13-6, Warren's athletes are as busy as welders in a U. S. Navy yard as they map out an attack which they hope will net another surprise.

The Ohioans, jammed with beef from end to end, are hoping for a wet night. Slippery turf would enhance Warren's chances of victory.

Bollas, at center, leads the beef trust with his 268 pound frame.

The line average 194. The backfield is fast, well-balanced and tricky.

Orders for tickets are being accepted at The Sporting Goods Store, 105 North Mercer street. The pasteborders are expected to arrive today, it was announced.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Harry Bobo, Pittsburgh heavyweight boxer, has resumed training for what he believes may lead to some bouts. Some time ago the State Athletic commission barred his participation in boxing bouts because of an eye ailment. Physicians have informed him a nerve which was injured has healed to such an extent it would be all right for him to resume his pugilistic career. The commission has stated that if Bobo could convince physicians his eye was all right the commission would be satisfied for him to resume fighting.

Johnny Lanning, Pittsburgh Pirates pitcher, will enter military service December 9 and Sam Naylor, Philadelphia Phils hurler, expects to be called any time. Bill Gardner, senior fullback, will captain West Virginia against Kentucky, at Lexington, Saturday.

Committee of the PGA which met in Chicago yesterday failed to decide on the fate of the 1943 tourney because of the war. A decision will be made after January 1. Ed Dudley was re-elected president.

"Gabby" Hartnett Out Of Job Again

Ex-Chicago Cub Pilot Is Released As Manager Of Indianapolis

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Big, jovial "Gabby" Hartnett, catcher for the Chicago Cubs nearly 20 years and the club's manager when he was dismissed, was out of a job again today.

Gabby was away from home on a hunting expedition when he was told that Donnie Bush, president and part owner of the Indianapolis club of the American Association, had let him go as manager in a wartime retrenchment move. Hartnett had managed the club only one year.

Bush was quoted as saying Hartnett would take a major league job, but Gabby said "there's nothing to it that a big league job is awaiting me."

"I haven't anything lined up," he added, "and I don't know right now where I can land."

It was believed he would try for a coaching job with one of the major league clubs. He served as coach with the New York Giants under Bill Terry after he left the Cubs and before he went to Indianapolis. Bush said he would do his own managing of the Indianapolis club.

Close 200 PGA Members In Armed Forces; Book Only Two Tourneys

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—With only two tournaments scheduled for the winter, the Professional Golfers' association has made wartime plans for one of the most abbreviated tours of its history.

The only two tournaments definitely scheduled are the Miami Open in Florida and the north and south in Pinehurst, N. C. both set for December. The four California tourneys and the Masters in Augusta, Ga., have been cancelled, and Phoenix, Ariz., has indicated it will be unable to entertain the Western Open in February.

Reports read at the opening session of the two-day annual meeting disclosed that the PGA has contributed $250,000 to war relief this year and that 198 members out of a total of 1,824 have entered the armed forces.

Grid Nuggets

(International News Service) MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—In an attempt to correct the mistakes of their defeat by Indiana, the Minnesota Gophers went back to fundamentals today in preparation for the Iowa Hawkeyes Saturday. LAFAYETTE, Ind.—Purdue fans were cheered today by the return to practice of Kenny Smock, leading ground gainer and left halfback, and Bruce Warren, left tackle, for the first time in three weeks. Coach Charley Bowser put his charges through stiffer workouts than normal yesterday, and the return of two injured first stringers was expected to strengthen the Panther cause considerably.

He has purchased a 160-acre farm in the Buckeye state and his $6,000 share of the world's series paid off the mortgage and gave him about $3,000 with which to make improvements.

Rose Bowl Committee Will Meet At San Francisco On Sunday

(International News Service)
CORVALLIS, Ore., Nov. 11.—Possible selection of Rose Bowl game candidates awaited a meeting of the Pacific coast conference Rose Bowl committee, scheduled to meet at San Francisco Sunday.

Members of the Lawrence county coaches association adopted a "Carry on" slogan when they met in the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night to discuss the coming basketball season.

Battling a government ban, the pilots plan to carry on.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The T-formation is a thing of great beauty and savage effectiveness for a team with the versatility to make it work. As some one has said before now, it is an old system polished and sharpened and made to click as an example of the stream-lined football of tomorrow. It remains in a game made to order for the spectator, presenting as it does the utmost in finesse and power, open and inside stuff. You can't beat it as a spectacle.

As to that, few teams without it can beat it on the ball field. Witness the success of Boston College, Notre Dame and the Chicago Bears. No eleven in this immediate vicinity has adopted the "T" as yet, but it is not entirely a new thing around here. In fact, over the past week end it was watched by approximately 107,000 persons gathered in two local ball parks. After that, it wouldn't be surprising if the ticket purchasers should strike for some more of the same.

Notre Dame whipped Army with it in a great show, although the "T" really hasn't started to click for the Irish. You don't put that system in and make it go with the snap of your fingers, especially after losing a ball-carrier like Dippy Evans. His running and Angelo Bertelli's passing might have made it a near unbeatable thing for the rest of the collegians, as the Chicago Bears have done among the professionals. Bears Have Everything

When you see the Bears go, as they did against the Brooklyn Dodgers, you wonder how they ever lose a football game. The Bears have just about everything the way they work the "T"—everything including presumably the ability to win the National League championship again.

This will be more or less definitely decided next Sunday when the Bears meet in a game calculated to determine outcome of the Western Division race. If the Bears win this one they are virtually in.

It will be a knockdown-and-drag-out in any case, with the odds quite definitely favoring the Bears and the "T" as they apply it. They have the thing down to split second timing on some 400 variations of plays. They used about 120 against the Dodgers, who never did seem to know who had the ball or where he was going. Sid Luckman makes the Bears' "T" click, makes it go with almost unstoppable fury.

Once Notre Dame settles down—as they may have done by this time they will find this weapon the greatest thing to come along since Rockne and Dora made the forward pass what it is today. If they can get by Michigan next Saturday, they may go through unbeaten the rest of the way. The loss to Georgia Tech and the Wisconsin came before they actually had the "T" working under fire. It might be pointed out, too, that Wisconsin and Georgia Tech are not exactly set-ups. The latter may wind up with a strangle hold on the mythical national championship.

EVANSTON, Ill.—Bill Ohland, end on Northwestern's football team, lived in the Philippines for two years when his father, a naval captain, was stationed there. Bill attended the American high school in Manila and did not take up football until his freshman year at the university. His greatest athletic thrill came when he caught a 50-yard pass from Bill DeCorrevont in last year's Michigan game. He was tackled on the five-yard line but the game ended before the Wildcats had a chance to carry the ball over and Michigan won, 14 to 7.

FROM ME TO YOU
By MESEALL

Rather chilly this morning didn't you think . . . well it's getting around to that time of year. Today is Armistice Day and in just two weeks it will be Thanksgiving. And just because the gas rationing has been postponed in this section for ten days doesn't mean that you should get the old bus out and burn up the miles. For your own protection as well as co-operating with the war effort you should keep your mileage down. The boys on the fronts take food rationing with a smile, why should you be so angry about driving less?

The paraders will move right along with a snappy step tonight if things are as they are when this was written. Every OGD member and other organization member who has been invited to march and to it that they are in line by eight tonight. Many will probably read this after the parade . . . if you were one who should have been in the line-up and stayed away because "for no particular reason" . . . you should hide your face in shame. This is no time to "let Johnie do it". Some might ask, what is there in a time to "let Johnie do it"? Well, first of all you show the people who are not OGD paraders that you are doing your part in gathering information to help protect them in case there is an emergency . . . secondly, the people you meet in the parade is worth a lot. Learn to know thy neighbor. The United States of America was built on a friendly foundation . . . it will stick together by the same formula. Do your part.

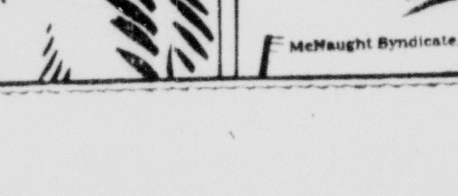

A letter arrived today and the composer, name attached, wanted to know if it was true that the tin cans we are saving were to be used to furnish "crowns" for beer bottles. That might be something to think about. Some people probably would not like to think that their effort would go toward furnishing such an item. From what we have been able to read the tin that will be removed from the "tin cans" will be used in the steel industry. Maybe we are wrong. If anyone would like to answer this question, feel free to do so. Are you saving your tin cans?

Don't forget to stand at attention as the Flag passes by. "Our boys" love that Flag!

May we suggest that you read the classified ad page now and then.

British King Makes Speech

Addresses Opening Of New Session Of Parliament At London

SEES ADVANCE ON ROAD TO VICTORY

By WILLIAM WADE
(L. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, Nov. 11.—"Notable steps toward final victory" against the Axis were hailed by King George VI today in a personal speech from the throne opening a new session of the British parliament.

"In the last few days," he said, "Providence has blessed our arms and those of our American allies." The king then paid tribute to the far east and told of the "steady growth of allied strength and resumption of offensive operations by United States and Australian forces." He praised all branches of the eighth army "which has dealt a crushing blow to the Axis forces in the western desert."

The king paid tribute to America's growing offensive might. He recalled Sir Stafford Cripps' peace negotiations with India with "profound regret that the princes and peoples of India were unwilling to accept Britain's offer." He expressed sincere hope that in the future "wiser counsels may prevail through a wider measure of agreement among the Indian peoples."

The king then paid tribute to the far east and told of the "steady growth of allied strength and resumption of offensive operations by United States and Australian forces." He praised all branches of the eighth army "which has dealt a crushing blow to the Axis forces in the western desert."

"Call Shots Right" For Ceiling Prices

"Poured" Drinks Must Be Specified To Get OPA Price In Tap Rooms, Says Attorney

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—Make sure you "call your shots right" these days, and you'll be guarding your nickles and dimes in tap rooms and taverns.

That's the advice today by Alan D. Reister, chief price attorney for the local OPA office, who added a few more pages to the book on bar-room etiquette.

Instead of simply asking for a "Scotch and Soda," you'll have to request a "poured" Scotch and soda if you want the protection of ceiling prices on liquor, he said. The same holds good for a shot of rye and ginger ale chaser, rather than the old custom of just "rye and ginger ale."

Reister explained that the ceilings applied only on "poured" drinks and not on "mixed" or "prepared" drinks.

Protect Food From Air Raid Damaging

Flying Glass, Smoke, Dust And Chemical Gas Imperil Food During Raids

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 11.—There are four major factors resulting from air raids that may cause contamination of food in the home, according to a warning issued by the State Council of Defense.

The warning, based on studies made by the U. S. Office of Civilian Defense, was coupled with a statement from Mrs. Conway Zinkie, chairman of the council's advisory committee on consumer interests, and Mrs. E. A. Van Valkenburg, chief of service corps for the council, that "proper precautions will eliminate much of the danger of food spoilage."

The main causes of food contamination were listed by the O. C. D. as (1) flying glass, (2) smoke and gases from exploding bombs and shells, (3) dust raised by nearby explosions, and (4) chemical warfare gas.

"In the home, the safe rule is to keep all foods commonly stored in the open—potatoes and other vegetables, cereals in paper cartons, canned meats, etc.—in closets, heavy cupboards, closed wooden bins, or other places where they cannot be reached by flying glass," the O. C. D. report said. "Care should be taken in storing food so that it is placed in such a manner that it will not be shaken from shelves and the containers broken by falling."

Referring to perishable foods, the O. C. D. revealed that the ordinary type refrigerator is adequate protection against gas and other dangers if the door forms a reasonably airtight seal.
